YANKS WIDEN OUT GAINS ON
LUZON ISLANDMAIN HIGHWAY CUT; PATROLS NEAR TARLAC

By JAMES HUTCHESON
General MacArthur's Headquarters, Luzon, Thursday, Jan. 18 (AP)—Sixth army troops cut the main Manila-Baguiio highway in two more places and patrols entered Pozorubio in a spurt of activity on Gen. Douglas MacArthur's left flank, slowed for several days by stiff opposition, headquarters reported today.

Still meeting the sternest resistance of any sector, the Yanks pushed across the vial highway at Babonan, three miles north of Pozorubio. Nine miles to the north other units moving from the west were within a half mile of Rosario.

On Mountain Road
Juncture at a fork less than two miles beyond Rosario would put the two Yank columns on a mountain road leading to Baguiio, the summer capital of the Philippines, 16 miles away.

Other Yank forces, driving 17 miles from captured Alaminos on the right flank, secured the north end of the Bolinao peninsula by reaching the northern extremity. Driving southward from Alaminos, another force was headed toward Dasol Bay.

The left flank drive reached a half mile from Rosario. Stiff resistance still was acknowledged in General MacArthur's communique.

To the south, patrols were operating east of the Cararuen hills, which would be excellent as observation and artillery points if captured, and into Tarlac province. Tarlac itself was less than 18 miles away at last reports.

Air Support Strong
American aircraft, strongly supporting all ground operations, destroyed 61 Japanese planes on the ground at Clark field and at the Cagayan valley airfield.

Carrier planes damaged four enemy freighters north of Lingayen gulf and PT boats sank four barges off of Vigan, a port still farther north on the west coast of Luzon.

Two Yank columns were approaching the important city of Tarlac on Luzon's central plains. General MacArthur's communique describing the left flank operation said "we have driven to within half a mile of Rosario from the west and cut the main central plains highway at Babonan, eight miles to the south. Our patrols have entered Pozorubio."

U. S. planes ranging the central Luzon plains and the areas south of Manila destroyed a number of locomotives, freight cars, three tanks and more than 50 trucks.

Formosa Hit Again
Heavy bombers hit supply and bivouac installations at Fort Stotsenburg, adjacent to Clark field, starting fires.

Formosa, vital Japanese island north of Luzon, was hit again. Long-range patrol planes harassed Okayama airfield by night.

Heavy bombers dropped 93 tons of bombs on supply areas, barracks and installations around Miri airfield on northern Formosa. Large explosions were observed. A 1,000-ton vessel was sunk off Brunei Bay.

At Celebes, fighter-bombers destroyed or damaged an oil barge and 13 coastal vessels in a strong raid on the north coast. A pier was set afire and several buildings damaged.

Enemy targets in the Moluccas, northern New Guinea and the Bismarck archipelago caught their usual aerial plastering.

TOKYO REPORTS
SHANGHAI RAIDSU. S. Flat-Top Fliers Hit
South China Coast
As They Please

U. S. Pacific Fleet Headquarters, Pearl Harbor, Jan. 17 (AP)—United States naval airmen who hit the south China coast as they pleased for three straight days, by American official account, continued their forays into the fourth day striking as far north as Shanghai, Tokyo radio said today.

The unconfirmed enemy broadcast said the Yank flat-top fliers Tuesday (U. S. time) attacked from Shanghai south to Hainan Island, 1100 airline miles apart, with blows delivered on Hong-Kong and Canton in between.

Adm. William F. Halsey's Third U. S. fleet planes met faint enemy aerial opposition while spreading destruction Sunday and Monday on the Japanese naval base at Takao, Formosa, and Japanese shipping and docks at Hongkong and Canton.

At least 104,000 tons of Japanese shipping, including war vessels and vital oil tankers, were sunk or damaged in these attacks, Adm. Chester W. Nimitz said in a communique yesterday.

Sailor Claims Dog
Got His Place On Transport Airplane

Antioch, Calif., Jan. 17 (AP)—A young navy gunner related today that he and two other servicemen were "bumped off" an army transport plane because a dog had a higher travel priority than they did.

The dog, said Seaman First Class Leon DeRoy, was being shipped across the country by Col. Elliott Roosevelt to his wife, actress Faye Emerson, in Hollywood.

At Washington, a war department spokesman agreed that a sailor, a soldier and a navy Seabee were put off a plane at Memphis, Jan. 11, to lighten the load, while a dog, about which the department had no information, continued its journey by air.

LeRoy, 18, told his story first to the Red Cross as he sought help in arranging fast transportation back to his station, elaborated in talks with reporters, and then, as comment began to come from various quarters of the nation, he avoided callers.

The young gunner on a navy tanker said he boarded the army cargo plane at Newark, N. J., after learning of the death of his father, former police chief here.

Juices Put Back
On Rationed List

Washington, Jan. 17 (AP)—The OPA tonight ordered canned grapefruit juice and blended orange and grapefruit juice back on the ration list at 12:01 a. m. Thursday.

The war food administration simultaneously directed canners to withhold their entire output of these juices for the armed forces "until military requirements have been met."

Canned orange juice continues ration-free.

These point values were set for grapefruit juice and blended juices:

No. 2 can, 10 points; 46 ounce cans, 20 points; No. 10 cans, 40 points.

Both kinds of juice had been point free since last June.

War Chiefs Calling
For 1,600,000 Men

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Washington, Jan. 17 (AP)—The nation's war chiefs called for 1,600,000 more soldiers, sailors and factory workers today. President Roosevelt appealed to congress for a law to draft these extra men.

The executive urged action without delay upon a national service bill which, he said, "will go far to secure the effective employment in the war effort of all registrants under the selective service law between the ages of 18 and 45."

Mr. Roosevelt spoke out in a letter to Chairman May (D-Ky.) of the house military committee, accompanying it with a joint statement of Army Chief of Staff George C. Marshall and Fleet Admiral Ernest J. King who called the manpower need "acute."

May forecast committee approval of the bill by "tomorrow night." Marshall and King said the army needed 600,000 replacements overseas before June 30, while the navy required 300,000 inductions by that date. They cited an estimate "that 700,000 industrial workers must be added to the force producing army and navy munitions and to supporting industries in the next six months if our urgent needs are to be met."

Personnel losses of the army in the last two months "have by reason of the severity of the weather and the fighting on the European front, taxed the replacement system to the breaking point," the statement said.

It declared naval vessels had suffered extensive damage, requiring major repairs, due to increased action in the Pacific, particularly in Philippine operations. The repair load is causing a slowdown in construction of new ships.

Supply reserves must be built up, and eight French divisions equipped, also.

WOMAN SHOTS

Suicide; Will Be Held
On Murder Charge

Bay City, Jan. 17 (AP)—A murder warrant was expected today to be lodged against Mrs. Constance Yankowski, 47, police said, who shot and killed her 17 year old son and only child, James, and then attempted to commit suicide by slashing her wrist, at their home here early Wednesday morning.

Hospital attendants reported she was in good condition, although "highly nervous."

Police said Mrs. Yankowski's husband, Frank, had left the house at about 11 o'clock Tuesday evening. Prosecutor Lyle M. McCormick of Bay county said Mrs. Yankowski told him she retired shortly after Jimmy, who had gone to bed at 10 p. m.

Awakening about midnight, she said she found her husband had left the house, and not being able to find a single-barreled shotgun, thought her husband had taken it and planned to shoot her with it, McCormick related.

With a second shotgun—a 12-gauge pumpgun—she went to her son's room where he was sleeping and shot him in the head. She then slashed her left wrist with a razor and called police.

Officers said the woman told them she was afraid she was losing her mind and that she couldn't leave her son to suffer abuse from her husband, who had been drinking heavily.

Following their arrest, Mrs. Girardin, her granddaughter, Lucien Swan, 67, and his daughter, Mrs. Florence Hay, 43, also of Ludington, were charged with harboring Point as a navy deserter. The three were arraigned Tuesday before Commissioner Max C. Hamlin and were bound over to the March federal grand jury.

Navy Deserter Gets Jail For Burglary

Manistee, Mich., Jan. 17 (AP)—Charles Point, who according to FBI records deserted last year from a U. S. Navy camp at Herford, N. C., yesterday was sentenced by Circuit Judge Max Neal to serve from one to five years in southern Michigan prison on a breaking and entering charge.

Point and Mrs. Beulah Girardin, 20, of Ludington, wife of an overseas serviceman, were arrested in Manistee and pleaded guilty on the charge of breaking and entering.

ST. VITH RIDGEBRITISH CAPTURE
TOWN IN DUTCH
PANHANDLE

BY AUSTIN BEALMEAR
Supreme Headquarters, Allied Expeditionary Force, Paris, Jan. 17 (AP)—The new British Second army offensive north of Aachen ran into stiffening resistance, including German tanks, and was slowed today after the white-clad Tommies had advanced 1,000 yards through snow and fog and captured the village of Dieteren.

To the south, however, American forces smashing at the Nazis' vanishing Ardennes salient occupied Vielsalm and closed within four miles of the strategic communication center of St. Vith.

Weather Grounds Planes
The fighting was cloaked in almost indescribably bad weather with icing conditions so severe that not a single American tactical unit was able to leave the ground. The only continental-based fighter-bombers able to see any action whatever were 150 British planes which struck at transport targets in northern Holland.

Still farther southward in the bulge the U. S. Third army cleared the entire Bastogne-Houffalize road and hammered the enemy back toward the St. Vith-Wiltz ridge. Below the bulge American Third army infantry, fighting on German soil between the Moselle river and the Saar east of Luxembourg, closed a trap around an enemy force of undisclosed size in a woodland southeast of Tettingen.

The Germans appeared to be digging in again in the Ardennes, stiffening their resistance with the first armor seen in days.

Escape Routes Menaced
The British pushing deeper into the German-held Mass-Reo triangle advanced like ghosts through a swirling sea of fog behind falling mine-buster tanks in the first Allied return to the offensive since the beginning of the battle of the Ardennes.

Foggy battle conditions were made worse by fresh snow. The air forces were able to put nothing into the air in this sector but a few weather reconnaissance fliers.

The American First army's advance to within four miles of St. Vith was made by the 304th division to the northwest of this last German gate on the road back to the Siegfried line—a junction of seven highways and two railroads.

FOR RAILROADS

Washington, Jan. 17 (AP)—A policy of discontinuing railroad passenger service wherever necessary to keep war freight rolling was laid down today by the Office of Defense Transportation.

Director J. Monroe Johnson said railroads suffering from severe weather conditions should discontinue passenger service and use their "full energies and equipment" to haul desperately needed freight.

The action particularly affects railroads traversing New York State, Ohio, Upper Pennsylvania and Indiana, but an ODT spokesman said it could be regarded as a "practical policy" of giving war freight precedence over passenger.

Johnson's action was not an order to the railroads. Each carrier will act within its own discretion. There was no immediate indication here how many passenger schedules, if any, would be temporarily discontinued.

Detroit, Jan. 17 (AP)—Edward A. Nowack, Lansing publisher, Frederick J. Martin, former Lansing theater operator, and his wife, Mrs. Dorothy G. Martin, former chief clerk of a Lansing rationing board, will be tried in federal court Thursday on charges of violating OPA regulations in the sale of gasoline coupons.

The case will be heard by Judge Arthur F. Lederle, who granted a 24 hour adjournment Wednesday when he learned Nowack's lawyer could not appear.

Mrs. Martin is accused of stealing 100,000 ration coupons from the Lansing board, and Nowack of arranging a Detroit market for the stolen coupons.

reason. In a second order of the day he announced that the Second White Russian army group under Marshal Konstantin K. Rokossovsky had joined the winter offensive, bursting through German defenses on a 62 mile front northwest of Warsaw to a depth of more than 25 miles.

It was Rokossovsky who led the tremendous but futile assault on Warsaw by the First White Russian forces from the north and east last summer.

Flank In Danger
Since pushing out Sunday from two small bridgeheads on the west bank of the Narew River above Warsaw, Rokossovsky's Second White Russian group has captured more than 500 communities, including the strong points of Makow, Pultusk, Ciechanow, Nowe Miasto and Nasielsk.

One point taken, Rawy, is less than 22 miles from East Prussia's southern frontier, and Rokossovsky's push posed an immediate outflanking threat to that invaded German province.

The Russians continued silent about German reports of a vast Red army offensive already in progress 13 miles inside East Prussia from the northeast.

The regular Moscow communiqué also failed to confirm an announcement by the Lublin Polish government that Marshal Ivan S. Konev's First Ukrainian army forces took Krakow today. Color was lent to the report as the German government radio there went dead during the afternoon, but the Moscow communiqué merely listed capture of the town of Sadowice, nine miles northeast of Krakow.

Sadowice was among more than 700 communities taken in the day by Konev's men, who topped Czesochowa and were today less than 15 miles from the rich minefields and war factories of German Silesia.

Warsaw's population had been killed by the Germans and that fully four-fifths of the city was in ruins.

An estimated tenth of the city was destroyed by German shells and bombs before it capitulated in September, 1939. In 1942 when the Jewish ghetto was liquidated, another 15 per cent of the city was estimated to have been destroyed along with tens of thousands of Jews.

More than half was ruined during the Russian siege and the uprising of Gen. Tadeusz Komorowski (General Bor) before he surrendered late in September, 1944.

Gutted buildings were reported everywhere in the city, dominated by the 17-story Prudential Life Insurance building which topped the skyline. One report said the top three floors had been knocked off by artillery but that the skyscraper still stood.

City On Hill
Most of Warsaw lies on a hill 100 feet above the Vistula, which flows wide and swift between Warsaw and Praga. Beyond Warsaw, the Polish plain slopes gently westward to Berlin, 310 miles away.

The old town had many narrow, tortuous streets which maintained their medieval appearance. The 13th century St. Johns cathedral, a gothic structure, stood near the center.

After Lodz, 75 miles to the Southwest, Warsaw was the most important industrial city of Poland. Its industries included metal manufacturers machinery, food, chemicals, matches, liquors and tobaccos. It was the center of a great shoe industry.

Before the war, a third of its residents were Jews but most of these had been removed by the Germans. Warsaw supplanted Krakow as the Polish capital in the 17th century and has been an important European center since the middle ages. It has successively been conquered by Sweden, Germany, Sweden again, Russia, Prussia, the French under Napoleon, Russia again and Germany.

Lonely GI's Make Pen Pals Of Pin-ups

BY LEE BENN
NEA Staff Correspondent

New York—You think of the beautiful girls who beam at you in toothpaste ads as only beautiful models, if you think of them at all. But to the Jews and GIs of the armed forces these lovely ladies of the still cameras are real persons. And very important ones, too.

From Quonset huts in the Aleutians to barracks walls at Staten Island, photos of mannish men who work for New York model agencies boost morale. Thousands of grateful letters that pour in to the Walter Thornton agency in New York attest to their popularity. The up-lift effect may be gleaned in the following excerpt from a letter written by a lonely private in New Guinea:

"Each night, after a back-breaking day and no mail call, I look at your picture, and then I smile, and feel that I have good reason to keep fighting. For you are my Dream Girl."

Not only do the GI's sing praises of their All-American pin-up girls but they add their compliments to all American girls. "You can't begin to realize what it means to a guy who has been overseas for two years to get a picture of a real, honest-to-goodness American girl, particularly one as lovely as yourself," a GI in Italy writes. "No serviceman appreciates the American girl until he tries to find her equal anywhere else."

Praise for Pin-Ups

GI praise for their pin-ups takes an unusual turn occasionally. "You deserve a General," opines a sergeant. And, "By a vote of 99-2-3 per cent you have been elected 'Miss Beachhead of 1944,' and your photo pinned on what remains of our bomb-shattered walls," a soldier writes from Anzio.

Mournfully, a New Guinea leatherneck protests that "Due to an inexplicable evolution of cruel fate dealt to me by enemy forces my pinup collection has been completely wiped out," and begs for replacements to adorn his fox-hole. Another soldier asks for a new picture, explaining that "battery acid, powder stains and torpedo alcohol splatters" have damaged his original photo. "You see, he adds, 'as did thousands of others, I came into the service without a girl friend. It's such a good feeling to know that some girl is thinking about you part of the time."

"A girl's photo is the best friend any fellow away from home could possibly have."

News From Men In The Service

An Air Service Command Station in England—Cpl. Charles Nelson, husband of Josephine Nelson, of Gladstone, Route One, recently completed an orientation course designed to bridge the gap between training in the States and combat soldiering against the enemy in Germany.

His next station will be one from which America's fighting planes cover our advance into Germany. Before entering the Army Air Forces he was employed as a setup man with the Central Screw company, Chicago.

Liberated France Revives Shipping

London, Jan. 17 (P)—Liberated France has taken another long step toward returning to normal existence by obtaining merchant ships from the United States and Britain for carrying imports.

The British foreign office announced that "a number of ships" would be allocated to the French government between now and April 1, and that similar arrangements for other liberated countries would be made "as soon as circumstances permit."

repulsed.

It appeared tonight that Nazi Marshal von Rundstedt had given the "stop-and-hold" order to save the last half of the salient from crumbling.

Face Stepped Up
On the southern areas of the former bulge the Third army's "adopted" 101st airborne division also surged east of the Houffalize-Bastogne road, entering the village of Bourcy in a two-mile advance. The Sixth armored division advanced a mile and a half in the region north of Longvilly.

On the Seventh army's front to the south the Germans stepped up the pace of their attacks in the Bitch bulge, against Hatten in the Maginot line and the cross-Rhine pocket north of Strasburg.

What at first appeared to be only an enemy attempt to infiltrate into American lines north of Reipertswiller on the east side of the Bitch salient burst overnight into a strong infantry attack, but at latest reports this morning it was being held with little, if any, gain.

The only activity on the western sector of the Seventh army's front was a small enemy patrol north of Grosderchering, which is seven miles southeast of Harleguemines. The American First army bagged 310 prisoners in the past 24 hours and the Third brought in 772.

Cryolite was discovered by the Danes in 1794.

BRITISH LOSSES EXCEED MILLION

Total Is About One-Third Of Figure For First World War

BY JAMES F. KING
London, (AP)—British empire forces, which already have been in the firing lines longer than in World War I, have suffered more than 1,000,000 casualties between Sept. 3, 1939, and Dec. 1, 1944, Prime Minister Churchill told Commons.

However, the total is only about one-third of the total figure for the last war. The prime minister disclosed there have been 1,043,554 empire casualties, the United Kingdom the heaviest sufferer with 635,107. During the first World War Empire casualties totalled 3,190,235.

Churchill did not make any reference to the United Kingdom's civilian casualties which are much higher than they were in the last conflict. The civilian figure now stands at 140,675—most of them during the 1940-1 Luftwaffe blitz and during the buzzbomb and rocket bomb raids since D-Day, June 6.

Of the total, 58,723 were killed, including 24,470 women and 7,462 children under 16 years of age. Although bombs fell on Britain from Zeppelins during the last war the casualties were negligible.

In his report which he delivered before Commons without further comment, the Prime Minister disclosed that Canada has suffered 78,985 casualties; Australia 84,861; India, 152,597; New Zealand, 34,115; South Africa 28,943; and other colonies 28,946.

Of the overall total of 1,043,554 Empire casualties, 282,162 were killed, 386,374 were wounded, 294,438 were prisoners, and 80,580 were listed as missing. The total, Churchill said, does not include service personnel dying from natural causes, civilian casualties, or losses in the merchant navy.

(The U. S. Army and Navy offices reported in Washington recently that the total American losses up to Dec. 14 1944 was 628,441, of which 547,823 were listed as the Army's killed, wounded, missing and prisoners of war. Navy casualties amounted to 80,618.

(By adding to this total figures released yesterday by Secretary of War Stimson which covered Western Front casualties since the Von Rundstedt breakthrough Dec. 16, total U. S. casualties to date would amount to approximately 721,035.)

Disregarding war damage, the steel capacity of the principal steel manufacturing countries of the world stood at 207.4 million tons in 1943, an increase of 23 million tons as compared with the peacetime year of 1938. The U. S. was responsible for 15 million tons, or more than two-thirds of this expansion.

Baseball Movies

On Monday night January 15 residents of McMillan and surrounding area were treated to sound movies of the 1944 World Series games between the St. Louis Browns and the St. Louis Cardinals. The picture was furnished by the American Legion of Professional Baseball Clubs and sponsored by the Newberry Junior Athletic Association. Trooper McCracken of the Newberry Post of the Michigan State Police and George McDonald, chairman of the Newberry Junior Athletic Association and well known Newberry civic leader, spoke briefly before the films were presented.

The purpose of the movie was to create an added stimulus to youth and adult leaders for the organization of sand lot ball teams. It is felt that the continuance of America's favorite sport rests with the creation of facilities for and the sponsorship of baseball in every urban and rural area alike.

The evident interest shown by the large turn out at Monday night's show gives evidence that McMillan is another spot in which amateur baseball's fire can be re-kindled and fanned into a healthy flame in conjunction with its great revival in Newberry. Carl Makel and Harry Mattson of the Newberry Conservation Department showed several reels of Wild Life of Michigan which was very interesting and much enjoyed.

TWO CHATHAM SOLDIERS LOST

William Debelak And Toivo Aalto Are War Casualties

Chatham—Pfc. William Debelak, 20, son of Frank Debelak, is missing in action in Germany since December 21, his father was advised in a message received from the war department January 8.

Pvt. Debelak who is in the Army Medical Corps, was stationed at Fort Jackson, S. C. and Camp Atterbury, Ind., before he was sent overseas late in October.

He has two brothers in the service, John, who has been overseas for two years, and Raymond, who is training with the paratroopers in Florida.

Missing In Belgium

Toivo Aalto of Ferguson is reported missing in action in Belgium, on December 28, his father was notified by the war department in a message received Saturday.

Engineers can now "blow out" electricity with circuit breakers which unleash a 600-mile-an-hour blast of compressed air to snuff out powerful short-circuit arcs and prevent damage to vital electrical equipment on power lines. The hurricane of air can smother a 1,000,000-kilowatt electric arc in less than a hundredth of a second.

Red Cross Prepares For 1945 War Fund Campaign

In preparation for the 1945 American Red Cross war fund campaign to open March 1, in which a total of $200,000,000 will be raised to carry on the Red Cross wartime service program overseas and at home, Red Cross officials and others from chapters in the Upper Peninsula met yesterday at Marquette in a training session conducted by area officials.

The national quota set for the Red Cross war fund this year is approximately the same amount as was raised last year. While county quotas have not yet been announced, it is expected that "keep the Red Cross at his side," contributions must at least equal those of last year.

Miss Lucille Pearson, assistant regional director, said that the Red Cross program to servicemen and their families will require that every chapter meet its quota. The overseas staff will be increased immediately to meet the growing demands for service as the war continues with mounting intensity. At home as well, the Red Cross is expanding its program to meet wartime demands.

"Many people who in peacetime gave a $1 membership fee to the Red Cross will be surprised to know that the Red Cross services have increased by 20 times because of the war," Miss Pearson said. "Although we do not expect individual contributions will be twenty times the amount given in peacetime, we do know that people must give as much as they possibly can."

O. S. Marrett, American Red Cross field director who spent 30 months with our fighting forces in the South Pacific, said that "everything possible is being done by the Red Cross for the comfort and peace of mind of our soldiers and sailors." Marrett himself became a Red Cross worker in memory of his son, who was killed Dec. 10, 1941, when he crash dived his plane into a Japanese transport.

Marrett described the Red Cross services to our fighting men. There are the Red Cross clubs, supplied with reading and writing materials, the coffee served to the soldiers as they go into or out of the front lines, the canteens and recreation centers, and the Red Cross girls who aid and comfort the wounded and the convalescent.

"I want to spike the rumor that you may hear that the Red Cross sells its services to the overseas soldier. That does not nor never has existed to my knowledge," Marrett said. "So far as I know there is but one charge made, and that is a charge for meals at the clubs in the larger places where the soldiers return for rest. And then the price of the meals is only about one-third their cost."

On the program besides Marrett and Miss Pearson were Mrs. Eugenia Rainey, assistant administrator of volunteer special services; Mrs. Lillian Wheeler, assistant director of home service; and Miss Sylvia Jakubek, general field representative.

At noon the Red Cross workers were served a luncheon at the Northland hotel, and viewed a moving picture designed to aid solicitors in presenting the story of Red Cross services.

Attending the meeting from the Delta county chapter of the Red Cross were:

L. J. Jacobs, chapter chairman; Mrs. Perry Bergman, executive secretary; George Lindenthal, war fund drive chairman; G. Z. Flinders, home service chairman; Mrs. H. W. Haddock, production chairman; Clint Dunathan, war fund drive information chairman; Mrs. A. Anderson, Miss Delight Mashuk, Mrs. Sam Mills, Mrs. M. Farrell, Mrs. D. H. Boyce, Mrs. K. F. Harrington, Mrs. O. S. Hult, Mrs. L. N. Empson, home service corps workers.

Replacements Needed

MEN in the age group 26 through 29, previously deferred for occupational reasons, will be called for military service at an accelerated pace within the next several months to meet the replacement needs of the armed services.

The order in which these men will be called for induction, determined upon the basis of the importance of their jobs in war production, indicates that relatively few of the men in this age group employed in the non-critical area of Delta county and the upper peninsula will be exempt from military service.

This is indicated particularly by the fact that men now in "essential" occupations are soon to have their deferments cancelled and even those in "critical" occupations are to be called when quotas cannot be otherwise met.

Closely allied with the increased draft calls is the effort of President Roosevelt to get congressional authority of a compulsory labor draft. As the younger men are withdrawn from war plants to enter military service, it is planned to assure necessary replacements in the factories by the assignment of men to those jobs.

Labor organizations which have been hostile to national service legislation throughout the war continue to bitterly oppose the labor draft. Both the AFL and the CIO have united for this fight. In other years President Roosevelt proposed the labor draft in annual messages to congress but did not press the issue thereafter. This time he has indicated that he is ready to make a determined battle for the labor draft to assure the uninterrupted flow of supplies to the fighting men in every theater of war.

Leadership Lost

JANUARY has been an unfortunate month for the city of Escanaba for during the last several days this community has lost the leadership of two able, hard-working public servants.

George E. Bean has resigned as city manager of Escanaba to assume a similar position in Pontiac, while Harry D. Brackett has asked to be relieved of his duties as secretary of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce because of poor health.

The Press has already commented on City Manager Bean's contributions to the welfare of Escanaba, and certainly something must be said about the outstanding service performed by Mr. Brackett during his many years as a member of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce and more recently as secretary of this organization.

Mr. Brackett was one of the founders of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce and for many years was active in its affairs, either serving on its various committees and its board of directors at one time or another. When the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce launched its industrial expansion, he assumed the difficult job of canvassing industrial and business concerns for funds to finance this program. Later, as secretary, he assisted the new industries in becoming established here, and at the time he was taken ill he had developed contacts and made plans for attracting other concerns here as soon as manufacturing sites could be made available.

The board of directors of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce has accepted Mr. Brackett's resignation with sincere regrets. It is unfortunate, indeed, that the condition of his health will not permit him to carry on in the job for which he has proved himself ideally suited.

American Enterprise

HOW gasoline and lubricating oil come from the raw product, petroleum, has never ceased to be a cause of wonderment to the motorist. Since the war, discussion of oil has increased and the curiosity of most of us is even greater.

In response to this rising interest, the Petroleum Industry War Council has published what it calls a "flow chart" which traces oil from the time it leaves the well until it reaches the consumer. It shows the oil being pumped to the surface of the earth. It follows it through scores of machines and chemical processes that break crude petroleum into countless derivatives forming bases for everything from cosmetics to asphalt. In its simplest form the process of petroleum refining consists of heating the crude oil in a still to its boiling point, passing the vapors from the boiling oil through condensing pipes, and condensing the vapors into liquids. Every 100 gallons of crude oil yields approximately 44 gallons of gasoline, 36 gallons of fuel oils, 8 gallons of miscellaneous products, 6 gallons of kerosene, and 3 gallons of lubricants. The remaining 3 gallons is loss.

One of the most dramatic tales of this tragic era of war will be the story of the production and transportation of oil to our fighting forces, to say nothing of the home front. It will be a story of hundreds of ships, endless miles of pipeline, thousands of railroad tank cars running night and day. It will be a story of sweating, worried men laboring in desert sands and teaming offices. It will be a story in which the word defeat is unknown. It will be a story toward which this country will always be able to point with pride. It will be the story of American enterprise.

Power Projects Help

FIVE reduction plants in the Pacific Northwest using Bonneville-Grand Coulee power produced one third of the nation's production of aluminum in 1944, aluminum that proved invaluable in the turning out of airplanes and other necessary war equipment.

During the past year, the Bonneville Power administration delivered about 9,000,000,000 kilowatt hours to Pacific Northwest war industries, military establishments, public distribution agencies and private utility systems. Among the users are two of the world's largest shipyards, the Oregon Shipbuilding corporation and the Kaiser company.

Cheap and abundant power is helping to win the war and at the same time is paving the way for the development of the Pacific Northwest into a vast industrial empire. But still, there were some who opposed such power projects as Bonneville-Grand Coulee and TVA.

Launching of the St. Lawrence waterway and hydroelectric project would furnish cheap transportation and power to improve the economic status of the Great Lakes region. We have only to look to the phenomenal developments in the Pacific Northwest to realize what the St. Lawrence project can mean to us.

YOUTH GUIDANCE (Iron Mountain News)

It is a far stretch from the thousands of dollars which WPA spent on county recreation and the $1,700 which the county Chest Fund has now turned over for so-called youth-guidance in the district. The limited means will not, as Youth Chairman Beauparlant has said, reach many of the children who may need it. It will do little more than apply a very thing scratch to a tough surface, for much of what is now loosely referred to as youth guidance is still a shot in the dark.

Beauparlant and his aides, charged with allocating the money to communities of the county which submit working programs, face a confusing job. The Iron Mountain-Kingsford and Norway city Youth Centers present no great problem, for they are established institutions. But what is a "youth program" in another community?

It all goes back to the old question of responsibility for the behavior of youth, and many well-meaning citizens have stuck their necks out on it. Where does it rightfully belong—in the home, the school, the church, or with the police? There are as many answers as there are children.

For the moment, perhaps, any move begun with the welfare of youth in mind is a good move in a highly relative degree. It is good as far as it goes. The Boy and Girl Scouts, among others, have proved that it can go far.

If, therefore, the small handout from the Dickinson county Chest Fund will provide at least a start in the right direction, it will serve its purpose to the limit of its means. But there is no real answer, yet, to the over-worked "youth problem."

About all some people will get out of their New Year resolutions is a chance to swear.

There are only a few more reading months before bathing girl pictures blossom on magazine covers.

It won't be long now till coal dealers will be busy trying to get their old friends back.

Take My Word

For it . . . Frank Colby

SURPRISE WORD OF THE WEEK

Overheard on a news broadcast: "Twice within a few minutes the town was shaken by a trembler."

A "trembler" is one who trembles. There is no such word describing an earthquake. The correct word is tremor. It is from the Spanish phrase, tremor de tierra, meaning "earthquake."

The accent falls on the second syllable, which rhymes with "more, pore." Say: tem-BLORE.

An earthquake is often referred to as a tremor, from the Latin word of the same spelling, and meaning "a quaking." First choice: TREM-er. Second choice: TREMer.

Colby, You're Wrong!

San Diego: Recently you made the nonsensical assertion that it is quite all right to pronounce rather with a flat "a." If you will consider the word father, which always has the "ah" sound, you'll see how mistaken you are. I demand a retraction.

Answer: Slathers of such blather in my column make you lather, I gather.

Altadena: Since you advise pro-MUL-gate, instead of the correct British PROM-ul-gate, your pronunciation of propagate, then, must be pro-PA-gate?—A. P. R.

Answer: Sorry, this column establishes no pronunciations. It reports correct American usage, as reflected by the consensus of American dictionaries.

Of these seven American dictionaries, Merriam-Webster's, Funk and Wagnall's, Winton's, Macmillan's, Thorndyke's Century, and Kenyon and Knott's, all list as first or only choice: pro-MUL-gate. Two list PROM-ul-gate as "British." Only one lists PROM-ul-gate as second American choice.

World Events Analyzed

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Washington—Lights have burned late in the executive offices of the White House in these first weeks of the new year, as the President and his staff of assistants have worked on the reports and messages which traditionally are sent to each new session of Congress.

This time, following the budget message and the annual report on the state of the union, there is also an inaugural address to prepare. It will be the fourth time that Franklin Delano Roosevelt has taken the oath of the highest office in the land—an unprecedented phenomenon that will inevitably loom large in our history.

Actually, of course, it is no more than confirmation of profound chances which have occurred. During Roosevelt's 12 years in office, the character of the federal government has been altered. It is difficult to see how any future President can go back to the relatively simple governmental structure that existed up to 1930.

—CAUSE OR EFFECT?—

Partisans will argue, from now until kingdom come, as to whether this revolution was the result of a conscious, deliberate course pursued by Franklin Roosevelt, or whether he merely helped to guide the nation along a path that had become inevitable in the light of changes in our economy which occurred long before the blustery day in March of 1933 when F. D. R. was first inaugurated. I believe that in the long perspective, Roosevelt will be seen to be more effect than cause.

His bitterest haters have regarded him as a sort of god of the machine deliberately forcing the country into radical and untried ways. History ultimately, it seems to me, will show that, more often than not, circumstances dictated the road he took.

The President has said that this fourth inaugural address will be shorter than any of the other three. It will be part of a private ceremony to be held with wartime brevity and simplicity on the south portico of the White House.

But as the President's ghost writers are undoubtedly discovering, it is harder to write a short speech—that is, an effective short speech—than it is to write a long speech. Pascal once said, "I have made this letter rather long only because I have not had time to make it shorter."

—JEFFERSON RECALLED—

Those who are working on the first draft of what the President eventually will reshape in his own language could do worse, for a guide, than go back to an inaugural address delivered 140 years ago. At his second inaugural, Thomas Jefferson spoke with brevity. In many ways, that brief speech could serve as a model.

Jefferson, too, had his battles with the press and, in the address he delivered on March 4, 1805, he sharply rebuked the newspapers for their "abuses." But Roosevelt needs no inspiration in his vendetta with the press. It is in another respect that the plain speech of a century and a half ago seems to me to commend itself to the fourth-term president.

In a memorable conclusion, Jefferson shows the humility that is a mark of true greatness:

"I shall now enter on the duties to which my fellow citizens have again called me, and shall proceed in the spirit of those principles which they have approved. I fear not that any motives of interest may lead me astray; I am sensible of no passion which would seduce me knowingly from the path of justice; but the weakness of human nature, and the limits of my own understanding, will produce errors of judgment sometimes injurious to your interests. I shall need, therefore, all the indulgences I have heretofore experienced—the want of it will certainly not lessen with increasing years.

"I shall need, too, the favor of that being in whose hands we are, who led our forefathers, as Israel of old, from their native lands and planted them in a country flowing with all the necessities and comforts of life; who has covered our infancy with his providence, and our riper years with his wisdom and power; and to whose goodness I ask you to join with me in supplications, that he will so enlighten the minds of your servants, guide their councils and prosper their measures, that what so ever they do shall result in your good, and shall secure to you the peace, friendship and approbation of all nations."

Those are the words of a man who thought of himself as truly a public servant.

Grace Allen Says.

I told you our new Secretary of State Edward Stettinius was more than just a handsome face. Now I hear he has ordered all frills out of the window at the state department and that shirt sleeves and suspenders and hard work are going to be very fashionable there this season.

Well, Benjamin Franklin, whose birthday is today, was one of our best diplomats and goodness knows, he went around looking like an advertisement for a rummage sale.

Also, I understand Mr. Stettinius plans to bring young men into the department who have qualifications other than graduating from our most aristocratic colleges. He figures, I guess, that post-war diplomats may play a little rough. If he is looking for bright, aggressive young men, may I ask if he's tried to buy a used car lately? Or a real estate plot in Los Angeles?

Temporary Respite

Good Morning!

—By The Bugler

TULIP TIME—The deep snow is good for more than skiing, says Jim Wells, superintendent of the Michigan State College agricultural experiment station at Chatham.

Most important functions of a deep snow cover is that it prevents the ground from freezing. Because there was little snow last winter pasture and hay lands emerged in the spring looking like a moth-eaten fur coat.

But what is particularly interesting is that at Chatham this winter there are between 200,000 and 250,000 tulip bulbs that are being protected from the cold so they will bloom with greater energy next spring.

Last winter many of the bulbs froze out, except where the snow covered the ground between the rows of snow fencing that had been erected to catch and hold what little snow there was.

Down at Holland, Michigan, site of the annual tulip festival, the tulip beds are mulched each fall to protect them from the cold. This is effective but it is also expensive—and besides there are always a few weed seeds that get scattered around with the mulch and flourish with the flowers. If you are thinking of keeping out the weeds, marsh hay makes the best mulch, says Wells.

At Chatham the number of tulips being grown for their bulbs is expected to increase after the war, when the manpower shortage is not the critical thing it is today. Even as it is, the 200,000 tulips, although covering an area of only an acre or so, will make a brave and colorful showing next spring.

GOING UP—Escanaba folks will perhaps remember Howard Kenney, formerly assistant at the U. S. Weather Bureau office in Escanaba some four or five years ago. He is now chief of the Weather Bureau office at Chicago, central weather forecasting office for this section of the country.

CASUALTIES—Pvt. J. D. (Jack) Danielson, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Danielson of Escanaba, is home on furlough from a training camp in Arkansas.

It was down south that Pvt. Danielson encountered the worst hazard of the army's whole training program. It was while on bivouac and living in the field that the hazard presented itself. Issued cans of field rations the budding soldiers found that part of the training included the opening of the tin cans without a little metal key which has become so familiar to civilian picnic-goers. The man who has tried to uncover the secret inside a sardine can without one of those little keys knows what the boys were up against.

"The field training casualty list in our battalion numbered 64—all with cut fingers," Pvt. Danielson reported.

WRITERS' CLUB—Escanaba High school seniors back in 1932 had a writers' club (perhaps there's one today, too) that brought out more of the creative writing talents of its members. One of those members was the former Elizabeth Anthony, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Anthony, and now Mrs. George Donnelly of Chicago. Before graduating in 1932, she wrote the following verse:

JANUARY
A dreary month it is at best.
A month of ice and snow.
Of chilly morns and early dark.
Of winds that swirl and blow.

Memories flicker through our minds
Of flowers where dewdrops cling,
Of ripples lapping at the shore,
Of lilacs in the spring.

INTO THE PAST

10 Years Ago—1935

Enthusiastic over the fact that the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau is out of debt for the first time in 24 years of its history, various committees of the organization, convening here for the annual mid-winter conference, went to work today to devise means of promoting the tourist and resort industry in this northern part of the state for the coming season.

The Upper Peninsula Development Bureau will have almost $40,000 available for tourist advertising and promotion, it was announced by George H. Bishop, secretary-treasurer of the Bureau. The feature of the 1935 advertising program will be the printing and distributing of 72-page "Land of Hiawatha" tourist book. The Bureau is also making plans for exhibiting at the outdoor shows to be held in Chicago, Detroit, Cincinnati and Louisville. Another new publicity program will be the taking of motion and still pictures of upper peninsula scenes for showing before clubs, schools and other groups.

20 Years Ago—1925

Marriage licenses were issued here yesterday to the following: Roy Jensen of Escanaba and Edith Oviest of Metropolitan; Sherman Hogan and Mabel Lacrosse, both of Escanaba.

Gladstone—A new electric meat slicer of the most modern kind, the "Jimmy Vaughan" make, will be added to the equipment of the Crystal Market. The apparatus slices all kinds of meats and its use in the market will add to the efficiency of service to patrons.

25 Years Ago—1920

Washington—Commercial air navigation is coming and the United States must prepare to meet that issue, declared Colonel William C. Hensley, in a report to the Air Service, United States Army, from Germany, where he is studying dirigibles.

The bare black trunks of twisted trees

Reach long arms to the sky;
The frozen winter sunset leaves
A pale new moon on high.

APPRECIATION—There are 135 former employees of the Birds Eye Veneer company plant now in the armed forces of the United States, and the company and its employees are proud of such a record. In fact, the company went several steps past just swelling its chest and sent each of the servicemen a fine Christmas gift box.

In the boxes were cigarettes, candies, shaving cream, a cigarette lighter, and Christmas cake. Only trouble was that the company found it impossible to obtain all of the addresses of the former employees now in service, and so could send packages to only 101 of the 135.

Now that Christmas is past the recipients of the gifts are showing their appreciation in cards the company is receiving in reply. These cards come from all over the world, reports Elmer Swanson, company personnel manager, and they are displayed on a bulletin board.

Sad note in the whole story of good will is the report that nine former employees of the Birds Eye company have been killed in the war, one in this country in a flying accident, and nine in action overseas.

DRYER UPPERS—The growing campaign of the dryer uppers who object to supplying beer to our servicemen overseas is reminiscent of this country's experience in World War I. There is even the possibility of prohibition—and the pernicious influence of the boot-legalizer.

Temperance and moderation are a good thing, even in a dry campaign. No reason, therefore, to deny servicemen beer when civilians seem to be able to get all they want here at home.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

(Lt. Col. R. S. Allen now in active service)

Washington—After receiving a long series of discouraging reports on China, President Roosevelt was delighted last week to get an encouraging report from Representative Mike Mansfield of Montana.

Mansfield is a former professor of political science at Montana university, so before he left for China, the President said: "I've had reports from trained economists and trained military. Now I want a report on what you, an average, intelligent civilian, think of the situation."

Mansfield spent two months in China, and called at the White House with his report last week. Probably the most important thing he told the President was that the rift caused by Chiang Kai-shek's dislike of General Joe Stilwell has been healed, and that the Generalissimo is delighted with the new team of Lieut. Gen. Al Wedemeyer, Ambassador Patrick J. Hurley and Donald Nelson.

"If these men had been here a year ago," Chiang Kai-shek told Mansfield, "we wouldn't have had the bad military situation we have today."

—TRIBUTE TO DONALD NELSON—

The Montana congressman paid tribute, however, to the job General Stilwell had done in training Chinese troops, and said that some of them are now giving an excellent account of themselves in Burma. He referred especially to the Chinese first and sixth armies.

The President asked Mansfield how Americans were now regarded in China and got the report the United States now stands "ace-high." Mansfield went on to say that Donald Nelson had made a splendid impression on everyone and has boosted Chinese morale by promising only what he is certain he can deliver.

Congressman Mansfield was especially impressed at the way Chiang Kai-shek is trying to clean up the bad spots in the Chinese domestic situation.

"When Chiang finds something wrong," Mansfield reported, "he goes after it tooth and nail. For instance, he found that the people were upset over the way conscription was being handled. So he sent his two sons out to make a quiet investigation. When they confirmed the reports, Chiang personally went to the office of the conscription director, checked over the evidence and ordered the man jailed and court-martialed."

The Montana congressman also had an interesting visit with Maj. Gen. Claire Chennault, head of the Fourteenth Air Force in China.

—CHENNAULT'S TEAMWORK—

"I asked General Chennault," he later reported, "why he didn't give a build-up to his air aces as they do in other theatres, and thus give the boys credit for the enemy planes they knock off."

"What I want," replied Chennault, "is a team. If we publish the statistics, the Japs will lay for our aces and destroy the team. Every man in my outfit, either on the ground or in the air, counts just as much with me as the man next to him."

The Montanan told FDR that just after he reached the United States he learned that Lieut. Col. Bill Reed of Iowa, who was the "star" of Chennault's team with sixteen Jap ships to his credit had been killed in action.

Mansfield was the first non-military American to ride over that part of the Burma road which has been rebuilt. He also spent three days in a jeep tour of the jungle. He found morale "magnificent" among the thousands of American men and the hundreds of American nurses working under difficult conditions at the end of the Allied supply line.

One specially significant bit of information Mansfield brought back was that the Americans, British and Chinese now fighting together in Burma are really getting along well together for the first time. He paid high tribute in his report to Major General Festing, commander of the British Fourteenth army who is cooperating so well with our own General Wedemeyer. Festing, he said, is the sort of man the G. I.'s like.

NOTE—Mansfield tried to visit the Chinese Communists in northern China but was unsuccessful. He reported to President Roosevelt that Marshal Stalin was quite correct in his dealings with Chiang Kai-shek, sent all his Chinese relief supplies to the Central government, none to the Communists.

—TEXAS POSTMASTER—

Statuesque Senator Tom Connally of Texas was standing in the Capitol chatting with colleagues when he saw Texas Congressman Luther Johnson go by. They talked earnestly and lovingly.

"Tom," a friend asked Connally, "who is the man over there with Luther Johnson? Is that his brother?"

"What makes you think it's his brother?" asked Connally.

"Well, he seems so friendly to Luther," he replied. "And he looks like his brother."

"That's not his brother," said Connally. "That's his postmaster, Jake Hudson from Corsicana. A postmaster stuck closer to a congressman than a brother."

These days, the weather is one of the main things discussed—and you can safely drop the "dis."

It would be interesting to know how many Christmas presents will be used as wedding gifts come June.

Leading a double life is likely to get you no place twice as fast.

TECH TO HAVE NEW SKI TOW

Chicago Man Contributes Skiing Equipment To School

Houghton—Through the generosity of E. J. Seifert, president of the Pettibone-Mulliken corporation of Chicago, the Michigan College of Mining and Technology will install a 1250-foot ski-tow as soon as necessary equipment is obtainable. The tow will be open to the public as well as to Michigan Tech students.

Its site will be the slopes of Quincy hill at Ripley, across Portage Lake from the college campus.

The installation will be maintained by the college, which will eventually develop the surrounding area for recreational and educational purposes. Tentative plans include reforesting and landscaping the grounds, and the construction of a chalet to be used as a change-house and warming-house.

Mr. Seifert, himself a skiing enthusiast, is anxious that college students in surroundings like those at Michigan Tech should have full facilities for enjoying the sport.

The tow will extend north of the highway at Ripley, from near the highway to the top of the hill, and northeast of the site of the old tow.

This old tow ran up through the slopes best suited for skiing and was a hindrance to skiers. Moreover, it did not run to the crest.

The tow itself will be an electrically operated steel cable provided with so-called chairs, known as "jayssticks." These sticks will consist of a handle, extending down from the cable, to which is attached a J-shaped stick. A skier takes hold of the long handle and as soon as his speed approximates that of the cable he adjusts the J-shaped seat beneath him and travels easily and comfortably up the hill. Only one hand is required to grasp the handle, leaving the other free to manipulate ski poles.

Pfc. Harvey Arkens Of Wilson Slightly Wounded In Action

Pfc. Harvey J. Arkens of Wilson was slightly wounded in action in Germany on December 16, his parents have been informed by a telegram from the war department.

He was inducted on January 26, 1944, and went overseas in July. He is a Browning automatic rifleman in the Second Infantry Division.

Although Pfc. Arkens has been in service less than a year, he has seen considerable action in the European theater of war. He was slightly wounded twice in the capture of Brest but remained in action.

No details were given regarding the action in which he was wounded but at the last report his division was located on the Roer river on the First Army front.

He was in England only five days before going to France.

ANTI-FOG GADGET

A new safety device for airplanes has been developed which tells the pilot his altitude above the nearest solid object, enabling him to fly through fog, during the night and in storms. Its value to military pilots is immeasurable.

News From Men In The Service

Pvt. Jesse Duncan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Duncan of 214 South Eighth street, who is with the "Red Ball Express" in the delivery of supplies to our fighting forces in Europe, has written his parents describing Christmas overseas. The letter was dated Dec. 27 in Germany. He wrote: "I received your letter and was sure glad to hear from you. I had a very nice Christmas dinner this year. We had turkey and all the trimmings. We had it very nice even though we are in Germany. We even had a small Christmas tree set up and trimmed. One of the boys found an accordion and he played Christmas songs for us. It made it seem more like Christmas with a little music. Yes, we get by very good, and maybe next year we can all be at home again." Pvt. Duncan was slightly wounded Nov. 13. He is one of four brothers in service. The others are: Cpl. Dewey Duncan, also in Germany; Harold in Iran, and William in England.

Mrs. Ervie Borden has received word that her husband, Pfc. Ervie E. Borden, has arrived somewhere in France. He has been in the service 16 months.

Fort Thomas, Kentucky.—Sgt. Theodore J. Harris, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman J. Harris, 1302 First avenue south, Escanaba, has arrived at the Army Air Forces convalescent hospital, Fort Thomas, Ky., for a period of rest, recreation and therapy. He was previously a patient in the Crile General hospital, Cleveland, Ohio where he received treatment for fractures of the back and ribs incurred in an airplane crash at his overseas bomber base in England.

The sergeant, an engineer-gunner in a B-24 Liberator bomber, flew 22 missions in Europe and was awarded the Air Medal with two clusters for meritorious achievement during combat. He participated in the first daylight bombing attack on Nazi submarine pens at Kiel, Germany.

A former student at the Milwaukee (Wisconsin) School of Engineering he entered the army December 9, 1942.

Kenneth W. Johnson, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Johnson, Rt. 1, Gladstone, Mich., is receiving his initial Naval indoctrination at the U. S. Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill.

An Eighth Air Force Bomber Station, England.—The promotion of Robert K. McKie, 19, of Escanaba, Mich., from corporal to sergeant has been announced at this Eighth Air Force B-17 Flying Fortress base. A member of the 95th Bombardment Group, commanded by Colonel Jack E. Shuck of Casper, Wyo., and Monroe, Conn., the sergeant is the ball turret gunner on a Flying Fortress.

The AAF gunner is the son of Howard McKie of 915 South 14th street, Escanaba.

"Two - A - Day - Eighteen," as Fighting Eighteen became known to units of the Pacific Fleet, has come home on leave after shooting down 172 Japanese planes in a whirlwind 81-day combat tour aboard an Essex-class aircraft carrier in the far western Pacific.

Sparked by the performance of 27-year-old Lieutenant Cecil E. Harris, USNR, Cresbard, South Dakota, whose 24-plane total is the Navy second highest for carrier-based pilots, Fighting Eighteen averaged better than two enemy planes per day in the air, in addition to destroying and damaging scores more in the air and on the ground.

VF-18, commanded by Lieutenant Commander Edward J. Murphy, USN, 1520 Wisconsin Avenue, Gladstone, Mich., flew Grumman Hellcats in the Second Battle of the Philippine Sea and in strikes against Palau, Nansei Shoto, Formosa and Philippine Islands. Its airmen, 14 of whom are listed as "Killed" or "Missing in Action," won more than 75 decorations for gallantry in action.

"I never thought they could cram so many Christmas presents in such small boxes," said Pvt. John Freeman, Engadine, Michigan, serving with the 36th "Texas" Division in eastern France. "We got everything this year—candy, cookies, cigarettes, even a fruit cake. It all came overseas faster than ever, in plenty of time for the holidays."

Pvt. Freeman has been overseas 13 months. His wife Mrs. Harriett Freeman lives at Main street.

A Ninth Air Force Service Command Base—Sergeant William E. Cary, Bay Shore Road, Escanaba Mich., is a member of the Service Group, commanded by Lieutenant Colonel James M. Sullivan, that was recently commended for its part in the air-ground push that has driven the German armies from Northern France.

Sergeant Cary is an electrical specialist in a Ninth Air Force Air Service Squadron.

This commendation came as a result of General Patton's appreciation for the aerial support given by the Ninth Air Force fighters and fighter-bombers to his troops in their rapid drive across France.

Sergeant Cary is the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Kieser, Bay Shore Road, Escanaba, Mich.

Sgt. Leo A. Coan, who has been in the China-Burma-India war theater more than two years, will be starting home on furlough in February and expects to arrive in Escanaba in April or May. He is now stationed somewhere in China. Coan was employed as a reporter with the Escanaba Daily Press before going into the service.

NEW RECORD SET AT SAULT

Operation Of Locks On Jan. 15 'Latest' In History

A new all-time record for late operation of the gates of the Sault locks for navigation was set Monday, Jan. 15, when the cargo carrier, Lebanon, passed through the St. Mary's river canal enroute to the Duluth-Superior harbor to the Gulf of Mexico.

Previous record was Sunday, Jan. 7, when three cargo ships, Penicost, Hidalgo and William L. Nelson, also headed for ocean service, went through the famous bottleneck after the way had been cleared by the new ice breaker Mackinaw and other Coast Guard cutters. Dec. 26 many years ago was the previous late date for winter navigation at the locks.

Earliest opening of Straits of Mackinac interlake traffic was

March 23, 1942, and the latest was Dec. 21, 1912, according to the Lake Carriers association.

The most spectacular ice blockade on the Great Lakes was in late December, 1926, when more than 200 vessels were stranded in the lower St. Mary's river for 10 days. Food and supplies had to be taken on sleighs over the ice to the jammed ships, which had almost 5,000 sailors aboard.

Besides the Mackinaw, the Coast Guard has the following smaller cutters operating on the Great Lakes: Acacia, Almond, Arrowwood, Chaparral, Ossipee, Sundew and Woodrush.

Marine Capitalists Prepare For Peace

Somewhere in the Pacific (AP)—Sale of more than $10,000 in money orders in less than five hours to members of one Marine field artillery unit indicate that many of the men have their own postwar projects, postal clerks believe. About 80 per cent of the money being mailed home represents savings programs, the clerks estimate.

Newberry

Entertains Club

Newberry — Mrs. Opal Stewart entertained her club Tuesday evening. Those present were: Mrs. Harriet Brown, Mrs. Ann Kelly, Mrs. Verna Jordan, Mrs. Ethel Nelson, Mrs. Emily Quinlan, Mrs. Allan Palmer, Mrs. Thelma Wertheimer. They played "help your neighbor" and lunch was served.

Farewell Party

Miss Bernice Harja had a farewell party for Elmer Ellinger who is entering the service Tuesday. Sixteen guests attended. Games were played and dancing enjoyed and lunch was served.

Baseball Movie

A movie of the highlights of the 1944 world series between the St. Louis Cardinals and the St. Louis Browns baseball teams and a short film on the Newberry baseball team and the Newberry high school were shown at the school Tuesday. The picture was furnished by professional baseball clubs and sponsored by the Newberry Junior Athletic association.

After the movie, Mr. Barr of the U. S. Navy gave a talk to the students.

Personals

Albert Henchel of Engadine had an appendectomy Tuesday at the Newberry clinic.

Miss Catherine Bushyard returned home from Grand Marais Tuesday. She was visiting friends. Paul Otter and Harold Rapp of Engadine were callers in Newberry Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hutchison of Hulbert are the parents of twins, born at the Newberry clinic on Monday, Jan. 15. The boy weighs seven pounds, 10 1/4 ounces, and the girl, seven pounds and 14 ounces. Miss Aldora Mckelvey had an appendectomy Friday at the Newberry clinic.

Raymond Bond of Newberry submitted to an appendectomy on Thursday at the Newberry clinic. Mrs. Michael Haskell received medical treatment at the Newberry clinic the past week.

Miss Duane Anderson submitted to an appendectomy Saturday at the Newberry clinic.

George Tuttle was discharged from the Newberry clinic Tuesday.

KIWANIS CLUB 30 YEARS OLD

To Observe Anniversary
Here On Monday Evening

Members of the Kiwanis Club of Escanaba will observe the 30th anniversary of Kiwanis International during the week of January 21 to 27 with a program based on the service organization's 1945 administrative theme, "Win the War—Build for Peace."

Harry J. Gruber, recently elected president of the Escanaba club, said today that plans for the anniversary meeting, to be held at 6:30 p. m. Monday, Jan. 22, at the Sherman Hotel, had been virtually completed. Outstanding features will include the reading of a message from Ben Dean, Grand Rapids president of Kiwanis International, and announcement of this year's objectives.

Recalling that Kiwanis was born in Detroit on the eve of World War I, Gruber said the organization since Pearl Harbor has supplemented its community service activities with projects which contribute directly to the conduct of the United Nations' war program. He revealed that last year 139,000 Kiwanians in some 2,250 clubs throughout the United States and Canada bought and sold war bonds valued at more than $1,000,000,000. They also donated 55,000 pints of blood, purchased millions of cigarettes for soldiers overseas, established canteens and entertainment centers and kept in direct touch with upwards of 2,000,000 servicemen and women either by letter, or by sending them hometown newspapers.

Eleven men attended the meeting which created Kiwanis during the winter of 1915. Its membership since that time has increased by leaps and bounds, especially in the past year. More than 13,000 Kiwanians are in the armed forces.

Mr. Gruber said that plans for the anniversary meeting were being directed by a committee consisting of James T. Jackson, Dr. K. F. Harrington, and J. J. Bartella.

U. S. Flags Saved From Guam Cave

Somewhere in the Pacific (AP)—Two dirty American flags were found in a cave on Guam by Marines laying telephone cable. Marked "Mare Island Navy Yard, June, 1941," the flags were wrinkled and wet. The cave was one which had been used by the Japanese to store supplies.

PLENTY OF 'WEIGH' TO THIS ANCHOR—When a huge aircraft carrier drops her mudhook there's one whale of a splash—and the comparative size of the sailors and the anchor in this photo tells you why. They're cleaning rust, barnacles and other marine growths off anchor of flagship of Navy carrier force in port after long stretch in the Pacific. (Navy photo from NEA.)

Ensign Emil T. Michaud Of Escanaba At Wheel As PTS Sink Jap Ships

BY SPENCER DAVIS

Aboard A Motor Torpedo Boat Patrolling Off Luzon, Jan. 15 (Delayed) (AP)—Sharp-nosed PTs porpoised their way through a heavy ground swell into the South China Sea today for their first intruder mission along the mountainous shoreline of north Luzon.

Here the enemy has concentrated troops and guns, possibly for a bitter fight. And so it is our mission to prowling from Lingayen and intercept whatever Japanese surface forces might be abroad in the dark.

Near sundown, Lt. John W. Morrison, West Englewood, N. J., officer in tactical command, radios to the destroyer screen guarding the entrance to Lingayen Gulf and asks permission to pass through into the China Sea. Word comes back "permission granted."

At dusk the PTs gather power and speed for the run into San Fernando Bay. Brazenly the PTs skim across the bay. A great fire is still burning from an ammunition dump hit recently by Avenger torpedo bombers.

The PTs prowling north, nosing into coves and inlets on the lookout for hidden shipping. About 11 p. m., a strange craft is sighted—and it is under way.

Morrison sends one PT, "Paddy's Pig," and another closer to the beach.

Every gun on deck opens fire in a blinding flow of firepower. One dark object ahead lights up momentarily and a hull is visible. No barge in the world could withstand that close-range firing. "Paddy's Pig" does a figure-8 and comes back for another run on a second barge. It is all over in eight minutes. Two vital little supply ships the enemy needs have disappeared.

Still muffled, the PTs sweep on. There is the same patient stalking but soon the lookout on the starboard 50-caliber machine gun, Quartermaster Richard Russell, Boston, Mass., makes out a new target. This is no barge. Its outlines rise high and sharp in the distinctive contour of a small "Sugar Charlie" freighter.

Ensign Emil T. Michaud, Escanaba, Mich., flips the wheel of "Paddy's Pig" for a dead-ahead approach. The target is motionless and Morrison will attack with torpedoes. Coming within 1,000 yards yards apparently undetected, Morrison orders his torpedomen to fire.

There are two splashes, and under the water's surface we see the phosphorescent wakes of two mechanical fish speeding toward the enemy ship. There is a brief flash of fire, then silence. With their torpedoes expended, both boats volley machine gun and 37 mm. cannon fire broadside at the freighter, then roar away.

Sugar Beet Growers To Attend Hearing

Michigan sugar beet growers, processors, and workers are urged by the War Food Administration to attend the public hearings on wage rates and prices for the 1945 sugar beet crop, to be held on January 19, at Lansing, Michigan. Angus C. Doane, District Representative, announced today. The meeting which is being held in accordance with the Sugar Act of 1937, will be in the Veteran's Memorial Building, and will start at 9:30 a. m. Doane declared that as one of the conditions to be met in qualifying for payments under the Sugar Act of 1937, as amended, producers must pay in full all persons employed in the production of sugar beets at rates not less than those determined to be fair and reasonable by the War Food Administrator after public hearings and investigation. It is hoped to ascertain the basis for these determinations for the beet sugar industry in the Michigan-Ohio area at the Lansing meeting. Newspaper advertisements for Marine recruits were published in 1866.

C&NW INSTALLS SAFETY LIGHTS

Red Oscillating Signals Will Protect Trains

As an added safety feature in train operations, the Chicago and North Western Railway company is installing newly-developed red oscillating lights on the rear of its principal passenger trains. It was announced this week by L. L. White, vice-president in charge of operations of the company.

The new light is basically similar to the red and white oscillating headlights which were pioneered by the North Western and are in use on many of its trains. The flashing rear light, which weighs only twenty-five pounds and can be fastened easily on the end of any passenger car, will operate only in emergencies. When a train is brought to an emergency stop, the flagman pushes a switch which starts the red light cutting a large figure "8" before he gets off the train to set signal lights and otherwise protect his train. The red light is left on while the train is moving slowly.

"We consider the new rear light a forward step in the art of railroading," said White. "It will not, however, take the place of a flagman but will supplement and augment his work."

White explained that for the time being it will be necessary for a trainman to throw the light switch. Later experiences may show, he said, whether or not it will be feasible for the light to work automatically, for example, going into operation during emergency stops or while the train is traveling at less than a designated speed.

The new rear light is the third type of oscillating light developed from joint research by the North Western and the Mars Signal Light Company of Chicago. The first light was a white oscillating headlight introduced in 1936. Last summer the North Western brought out a new dual purpose oscillating headlight which normally throws a flashing white light which instantly changes to red during emergency stops. Oscillating lights have the advantage over stationary beams of light in that their movement is perceived at great distances. The purpose of the red light is to protect a train from being struck by other trains.

Church Events

Christian Science Churches
"Life" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday, January 21. The Golden Text (John 17:3) is: "This is life eternal, that they might know thee the only true God and Jesus Christ, whom thou hast sent."

Among the Bible citations is this passage (Deuteronomy 5:6,7): "I am the Lord thy God, which brought thee out of the land of Egypt, from the house of bondage. Thou shalt have none other gods before me."

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (340): "The divine Principle of the First Commandment bases the Science of being, by which man demonstrates health, holiness and life eternal."

Chorus Practice
The Ladies Chorus of the Central Methodist church will meet this evening at 7:30 o'clock in the church.

Confirmation Class
The Confirmation class of the Central Methodist church will meet this afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Mother Informed How Her Son Was Wounded In Action

Mrs. Mike Slaga, Perronville, has received an interesting letter from Lt. Col. George Clemens telling her how her son, Edward W. Bartosz, was wounded in action.

Excerpts from the letter of Col. Clemens, who was commanding the unit to which Bartosz was attached, follow:

"A few days ago your son left for a base hospital well on the road to recovery from wounds received in action. He was in good spirits and should be entirely recovered before too long."

"Your son was with the unit for a long time and was one of our trusted and able soldiers. His duty was to drive the battery commander and he never hesitated although frequently under enemy fire."

"On the morning your son was wounded he had started early with his commanding officer and they were driving down a road in a jeep. Suddenly without warning an enemy machine gun fired from a patch of woods and one of the bullets hit Edward in the side. He was able to jump from the jeep and get in the ditch at the side of the road. There he and others were pinned down for some time by enemy fire. Finally the machine gun was driven back and two officers and a sergeant picked up Edward and placed him in the vehicle and returned him to the aid station. He was back in the hospital in a short time and received the best of medical care. The bullet passed on through him but missed the most vital organs. I presented him the Purple Heart decoration for wounds received in action."

Beaver Trapping Dates To Be Fixed

Lansing—Northern Michigan areas to be opened to beaver trapping this spring, and opening and closing dates of the trapping season, will be determined by the conservation commission at its meeting here Jan. 16.

No beaver trapping was allowed in the upper peninsula in 1944 and the take in the lower peninsula last spring—2,703 pelts—was far below the 6,464 beaver taken in both peninsulas during the 1943 open season.

The rocket principle, invented in the 13th Century by the Chinese, as applied today is saving countless American lives whenever it is used during landing operations.

NURSES NEEDED!

Due to rapidly mounting casualties on the battlefronts and in the sick bays, the Army needs 10,000 additional nurses and the Navy needs 4000 additional nurses immediately. An unprecedented event in this war was the recent sending of 11 Army Hospital Units overseas without nurses. This is a grave situation to be met by both the remaining civilian nurses and the civilian public.

"ALL-PURPOSE" SWEET DOUGH

IMPORTANT! Perfect results assured...only if you use Gold Medal "Kitchen-tested" Enriched Flour.

Crumble into mixing bowl... 2 cakes compressed yeast
Add... 2 cups milk (scalded and cooled to 80°)
1 1/2 cup sugar
2 tsp. salt
Let stand until thoroughly dissolved (about 5 min.).
Stir in... 2 eggs (or 4 egg yolks plus 2 tbsp. water), well beaten
Add... 3 1/2 cups sifted GOLD MEDAL "Kitchen-tested" Enriched Flour
Beat with spoon until smooth and elastic (batter will fall from spoon in "sheets").
Beat in... 1/4 to 1/2 cup shortening (depending on richness desired), melted and cooled
Work in with the hand... 3 1/2 to 4 more cups sifted GOLD MEDAL "Kitchen-tested" Enriched Flour (enough to make a dough that no longer sticks to mixing bowl and is possible to handle)

Turn dough onto lightly floured board, cover, let stand 10 minutes to tighten up. Knead until smooth and elastic. Place in greased bowl. Cover with damp cloth. Keep dough at 80° to 85° until double (about 2 hours). Punch down dough. Round up and set to rise again until not quite double (about 45 minutes). Punch down dough. Divide into two parts. Use one half of dough to make...

STREUSEL COFFEE CAKES

For two round 8" coffee cakes... pat out half of this dough to fit into a greased 8" baking pan (2 1/2" deep). Sprinkle half of Streusel Topping (recipe below) over top of dough. Repeat process for second coffee cake. Cover and let rise until double (35 to 40 min.). Bake 35 to 45 minutes in a quick moderate oven (375°).

STREUSEL TOPPING

Mix together... 1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup sifted GOLD MEDAL "Kitchen-tested" Enriched Flour
Rub in until crumbly... 6 tbsp. butter

USE THE OTHER HALF OF DOUGH TO MAKE...

CLOVERLEAF ROLLS. Form bits of dough into balls about 1" in diameter. Place 5 balls in each greased muffin cup (medium-size). (Brush with melted butter.) Cover and let rise until double (about 30 min.). Bake 12 to 15 min. in hot oven (425°). Makes 2 doz. rolls.

OLD-FASHIONED BISCUITS. Form dough into balls 1/2 the size desired for finished biscuits. Place close together in a greased round layer cake pan. Let rise and bake as for Cloverleaf Rolls.

Interesting Play Marks Session of Bridge League

BY L. W. OLSON

One of the finest turnouts of the season responded to our call for better attendance at our meeting last Saturday night and the Delta Bridge League really had a most interesting meeting. Play was close, interesting and moved along very fast. All the players were put into one large section and played twenty-seven boards. The players like this system of play as all players play the same hands and it makes for a lot of discussion after the play is finished.

The set hand as usual came in for its share of comments and all of them were not good. Those who tried to make an overtrick were in every case set and naturally did not like that at all. Those who played the hand safely came home with the contract of four spades without any trouble at all. The hand with the proper bidding and play is appended.

South is dealer. All vulnerable.

NORTH		EAST
S—3 7 5 4 2	H—6	S—A 9	H—6
H—10 2	D—9 8	D—10 5 4 3 2	C—Q 7 5 4 3
C—J 10 8 6
WEST		SOUTH
S—10	H—J 9 7 5 4 3	S—K Q J 6 3	H—A K Q 8
H—J 9 7 5 4 3	D—K Q J 8	D—A 7	C—A 2
D—K Q J 8	C—K 9

The bidding:
South West North East
2 S Pass 4 S Pass
Pass Pass

South's opening bid of two spades is certainly the best and only call that should be considered on this hand and North's response of four spades, which indicates a hand with four trumps to the queen or five small trumps and no ace of king and no void or singleton, is certainly hitting the nail right on the head. Any other bid is most definitely wrong and should be given no consideration whatsoever.

The opening lead in every case was and should be the king of diamonds which was taken by South with the ace. At this point some declarers tried to run three rounds of hearts with idea or plan to discard the losing diamond in the North hand. These declarers were rudely shocked when East trumped the second lead of hearts and from then on South was out of luck. Those declarers who played the hand safely and immediately led out a trump had no difficulty making this fine hand.

League Scores

Pairs scoring over fifty per cent at last Saturday's meeting were as follows:

1. Mrs. B. M. Howe and Mrs. C. W. Murdoch, 67.33.
2. Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Jensen, 64.45.
3. Mr. and Mrs. H. Needham, 59.40.
4. E. J. Kremer and J. L. Temby, 55.75.
5. Dr. J. J. Walsh and H. H. Shepeck, 55.09.
6. H. L. Holderman and C. Buckbee, 54.16.
7. Mr. and Mrs. R. Smith, 52.51.
8. Mrs. J. L. Temby and Mrs. L. W. Olson, 51.85.
9. Mrs. R. L. Parsons and Mrs. L. P. Treiber, 50.85.
10. Mr. and Mrs. J. Richards, 50.45.
11. Mrs. J. J. Walsh and Mrs. H. H. Shepeck, 50.00.

CONVICTION OF CONCHIE UPHELD

Judge Rannels Sustains Verdict Of Local Justice Court

Conviction of Marvin Cook, of North Carolina, held at the Germ-fask conscientious objectors' camp, was found guilty in district court at Newberry, Tuesday of illegally obtaining a trapper's license and was sentenced to thirty days in the county jail or to pay a fine of $20 with additional $20 costs and a month if he would have to serve 15 more days in the county jail if the fine and costs were not paid.

The case is an outgrowth of a justice court case tried in Manistique last October. Cook has obtained a trapping license at Germ-fask and in so doing had stated that he was a resident of the State of Michigan. He was arrested on a charge of obtaining the license fraudulently and when tried before Judge W. G. Stephens, was found guilty and sentenced to pay a fine of $10 with $8.50 additional costs.

William J. Sheehan, who prosecuted the case, contended that the fact that Cook was detained in a conscientious objectors' camp in Michigan in no way altered his residential status—no more so than would a Michigan soldier stationed in a North Carolina military camp would become a resident of that state. The court sustained the contention.

The case was appealed to district court and a hearing of the case was heard before Judge Herbert W. Rannels on January 9 when John Brattin, of Lansing, appeared for the defendant who demanded that the case be brought to trial.

The final action came at Newberry Tuesday afternoon when the defendant appeared without his attorney and received the verdict of the court. Judge Rannels ruled that Cook had obtained a fair and just trial in Manistique Justice court; that the defendant, under cross examination, had admitted that he was not in the State of Michigan for the full six months that under ordinary circumstances would have entitled him to residential status; and that regardless of how long he had remained in the state he could not obtain legal residence in the state as long as he was held at Germfask.

The case had received wide publicity because of Cook's status as a conscientious objector and because of the contention of the defense that his being stationed here made him a resident of the state. This contention, the court emphatically denied and the added opinion was given that the defendant willfully secured the license, knowing that he was not a resident.

Social

W. B. A. Meeting
The regular meeting of the Women's Benefit Association was held Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Louis Tebo.

Following the regular business session a social hour was enjoyed. Mrs. Norman Jann received high in five hundred, and Mrs. L. Thornton received second. Mrs. John Hewitt received the special award.

Tasty refreshments were served at the close of the evening. The next regular meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Lester Richards.

Worry Clinic With Case Records Of A Psychologist

BY DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
CASE E-202: Harry S., aged 34, is a clergyman.

"I want you to send Harry some of your psychological bulletins," his mother-in-law wrote to me.

"He is a brilliant young man but just doesn't seem to know how to unbend among those who have had less education than himself."

"He doesn't know how to talk the language of the people, but is stiff and formal and, I am sorry to admit, rather boring. He puts his parishioners to sleep."

"Besides, he isn't sociable. At a reception or party he stands around, looking stiff and formal."

"He worries over this dilemma, and wants to do the best for his people, but just doesn't seem to know how. For ten years he has made no advancement, but is still stationed at small churches."

"His wife has helped him a great deal to overcome his shyness but she can't be his spokesman. I've been reading your column here at Miami, and think you would do him a lot of good if you'd mail him a set of your bulletins appropriate for clergymen."

Diagnosis
Harry's mother-in-law is a sensible woman and has probably analyzed her son-in-law's chief faults.

There are still too many clergymen like him. Intelligent young men, with excellent college education or seminary training, they try to make preaching a formal, scholarly affair.

To them, a good sermon consists of 30 minutes of dry, heavy statements of theology. Their sermons thus have scarcely any more human interest value than a 30-minute recitation of various theorems of geometry.

Secret of Interesting Speeches
The secret of an interesting speech or sermon is to document each abstract statement with a narrative or story that clearly explains it so that any fifth-grader can get the point.

Moreover, people are perennially interested in stories, so the narratives will keep them awake. Pick your text or main theme. Then dig up a series of stories that will illustrate and amplify your thesis, but that will also move the thought along toward its proper climax.

A 30-minute sermon of top-notch caliber should contain at least 6 or 8 of these narratives. In Case D-230, I recently outlined a sermon by Dr. Roy L. Smith that was one of the best I have ever heard in all my life. It contained 12 narrative stories.

How to Finish a Sermon
If you wish to obtain maximum emotional effect for a speech or sermon, come down the home stretch in rhythm. In other words, recite an appropriate bit of poetry in your peroration.

Be sure you select a verse that will contain the idea that greater emotional response from an audience, for our emotions are psychologically conditioned to verse more than the prose.

Some expository talks, as a mathematics teacher's lecture on geometry, don't lend themselves to an emotional climax, but a religious talk, or an anniversary address about Lincoln, Jefferson or Washington, are appropriate for this emotional climax.

Making an effective speech is not as difficult as some clergymen seem to think. They can render it relatively simple if they will only follow the anecdotal formula that Jesus gave us.

Send for my bulletin "How to Make an Interesting Speech," enclosing a 3c stamped envelope,

Local Soldier Writes To Folks About Holy Land

Portions of a letter received here from Cpl. Norman Patz, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Patz, Second street, by the Young People's Society of the Free Methodist church, will be of interest to local residents. Cpl. Patz is stationed in Persia.

He writes:
"A short time ago I had the opportunity to take a short furlough in Palestine, and the Holy Land. I sent a few things home that I acquired while I was there. I enjoyed an experience that I shall treasure the rest of my life, and only regret that each and every one of you could not have had that same experience. It was truly inspiring and impressive, especially such sights as the Nativity of the Lord Jesus Christ in Bethlehem, the Garden of Gethsemane, and the fourteen stations of the cross. It was possible for us to follow the way of the cross from where Christ was betrayed to Calvary. On our tour we went to the Mount of Olives. There we saw the church of all nations, sometimes called the church of agony. From there we went to the top of the Mount of Olives to the Church of Ascension, where we could get a good view of the old city of Jerusalem which is entirely surrounded by a huge wall. Facing the Mount of Olives is the Golden Gate through which Christ entered the City of Jerusalem. This gate is sealed, never to be opened until Christ returns again to enter the city. Another interesting tour was our trip to the sea of Galilee, the Jordan river and the Dead sea. You can never guess how impressed I was to be able to actually see these places after reading about them all my life."

"With me things are going pretty good. It won't be long now and I'll be starting my third year overseas, to me that sure has been a long time, and only God knows how much longer it will be. We all had hopes of being able to be home this Christmas, but I guess it just wasn't to be that way. The war news does look good, so it shouldn't be long now."

"Wishing you all a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year, and may God bless you as you carry on your work at home."

Yours in Christ,
Norman.

Gladstone Entertains Legion Here Tonight

State and Upper Peninsula officers of the American Legion will visit Gladstone today while on their annual mid-winter tour of the Upper Peninsula.

The tour precedes the mid-winter conference which will be held at the Soo on Sunday, Jan. 28 at the conclusion of the tour.

The junket of the Legion officials opened yesterday at Menominee and during it the party will visit Gladstone, Ishpeming, Hancock, Bessemer, Iron River, Kingsford, Manistique, St. Ignace and the Soo.

Prominent in the official family will be Dr. C. J. Gray, department commander, Mrs. Edna Alber, department officer, Oliver F. Allard, Menominee, fifth zone department vice commander, and Edward Brunelle, Gladstone, U. P. Grand Chef de Train of the Forty and Eight.

The visiting delegation will be tendered a banquet tonight at 6:30 o'clock at the Fisher Hotel at which in addition to the official party, members of the city commission, the postwar planning commission and the veterans' hospital committee will be guests.

Because of limited seating capacity, admission to the banquet will be by ticket only and yesterday it was reported that no more tickets were available.

A. D. Aiguire, service liaison officer for the Office of Veterans Affairs, will serve as toastmaster at the dinner.

Before the dinner there will be the singing of America by the group led by Wallace Cameron and invocation by Archie Cowen, Legion post chaplain.

The after dinner program is as follows:
Service songs, led by Wallace Cameron.
Introduction of Distinguished Guests, Post Commanders and Unit Presidents.
Vocal solo, Mrs. H. J. Skogquist, accompanied by Mrs. Ed Olson Jr.

Iron River—Effective Saturday, Jan. 20, production schedules at the M. A. Hanna and Pickands Mather mines will be stepped up from five to six days a week on the day shift. It was announced yesterday. The night shifts will continue to work five days a week.

The Hanna company employs some 600 men at the Hiawatha No. 1 and No. 2, Homer, Wausseau and Bates mines, and the Pickands-Mather has 600 men at the James, Buck and Zimmerman properties.

MEMORIAL RITES HELD

Iron Mountain—"God does not will war, man brings it on by his greed and stupidity," the Rev. William Siegel, pastor of Our Saviour's told the overflow audience which last night attended memorial services at the church arranged by the pastor for T-4 Lawrence A. Lusardi, 27 son of Mr. and Mrs. David Lusardi, Carpenter avenue, who was killed Oct. 27 in Holland.

He was an older brother of Pvt. Norman H. Lusardi 19, who was killed in action April 3, in Burma and for whom memorial services were conducted April 30 at Our Saviour's.

Felch Foresters Stage Second Half Spurt To Defeat St. Joseph

VISITORS COP 33-21 VICTORY

Trojans Crumple After Leading At End Of First Half

The Felch Foresters put on a second period burst to come from behind and defeat the St. Joseph Trojans, 33 to 21, at the Bonifas gymnasium last night. The Trojans led at half time, 10 to 8.

Although the St. Joseph team held a slight lead at the midway point they missed a number of pot shots, mishaps that proved their undoing in the second half when the Foresters built up a head of steam.

Although outscored in the third period, the Trojans were still very much in the ball game, trailing only by 20-17 at this point. The Felch team widened the gap early in the final period, however, and finally coasted to a relatively easy victory.

A REAL FISH STORY — and true. This mammoth shark was harpooned by hand and beached by Lieut. E. J. Holderman, USNR, and C. F. Curry at Point Magu, Calif. Both "fishermen" are from Michigan.

Escanaba Sailor Lands Shark Weighing 1400 Lbs.

Harpooning by hand is perhaps the most primitive method of catching a shark — particularly when the shark measures 15 feet and weighs well over half a ton. But such was the technique used by two navy men — Lt. E. J. Holderman, USNR, of Escanaba and C. F. Curry of Battle Creek, Mich. — in landing such a monster of the deep in a lagoon near the naval training activity, at Point Magu, Calif., late last month.

The shark, known as the "basket" variety, was presumably asleep when Lt. Holderman and Curry spied him, had a harpoon quickly made, and sailed after him in a ton-and-a-half aircraft personnel boat.

After throwing the hook into the huge fish by hand, their immediate transportation problems were over, for without the aid of precious gasoline or oil — or the necessary OPA coupons — they were off for an hour's ride.

In fact, it was only after this hour's ride that the shark ran out of energy and presumably of heart beats. He gave up, and the two navy men beached him. The monster's length measured 15 feet and he tipped the scales at a more 1,400 pounds — the largest catch either man ever made.

Both naval fishermen are attached to the Acorn Assembly and Training Detachment, U. S. Naval Base, Hueneme, Calif.

East Lansing, Jan. 17 (AP) — The University of Michigan and Michigan State College will meet on the football gridiron again next Sept. 29, a year sooner than the fans believed the two classic rivals could get together again.

Resumption of the feud which has gone on for 37 contests was approved by the Spartan athletic council, anxious to return to its pre-war football rivalry after a two-year lull.

Ralph H. Young, M. S. C. athletic director, said H. O. (Fritz) Crisler, the Wolverine head coach, made the date available to Michigan State when the University of Pennsylvania asked to be released from the Michigan schedule.

Young and Charley Bachman, the Spartan head coach, both said they were "delighted" because they had not expected to return to the Michigan schedule until 1946.

Thus, the Spartan football schedule for next fall now includes: Michigan at Ann Arbor Sept. 29, Kentucky at East Lansing, Oct. 6, Missouri at East Lansing, Nov. 3, Penn State at East Lansing, Nov. 17, and Miami at Miami, Fla., Nov. 23, a night game.

Hoosiers Nip Rally In Time To Nose Purdue, 51 and 50

Bloomington, Ind., Jan. 17 (AP) — Indiana rolled up a commanding lead and then checked a sizzling rally just in time to defeat Purdue, 51 to 50, in a Western Conference basketball game tonight.

MAROONS NEXT FOR ESKYMOS

Menominee Cagers Show Progress In Victory Over Kingsford

The Eskymos, jolted 22-11 by Gladstone last Saturday night, found little cause for cheer in the announcement that Menominee, Eskymos' foe Friday of this week, had shellacked Kingsford, 38-28, last Saturday at Kingsford. Previously Kingsford had swamped the Maroons at Menominee 50 to 26, giving a general idea of the great improvement shown by the Maroons since that time.

The Maroons presented a smooth working combination under the tutelage of Tom Chambers at Kingsford Saturday. Menominee took an early lead and was never headed. Kingsford played the game without the services of their star center, Tom Paternoster, who has entered the navy.

Coach Ruwisch was very much disappointed in his cagers at Gladstone Saturday, conceding that they "couldn't toss peas in a bushel basket" that night.

In practice sessions this week, however, the Eskymos are hitting a relatively high percentage of their shots and Coach Ruwisch is hopeful that they will maintain this pace against Menominee. A return game is scheduled at Menominee February 17.

SWEDISH STAR TO VISIT U. S. A.

Haegg Completes Plans For Trip; Gil Dodds Out Of Picture

New York, Jan. 17 (AP) — Word was received from Stockholm today that Gunder Haegg, Swedish track star, had completed plans for his winter trip to the United States just a few hours after Gil Dodds, expected to be his major American rival, said he would be unable to compete during the coming season.

Charles Jamison, secretary of the Swedish amateur athletic group, told the Associated Press in Stockholm that all the plans had been completed for the journey of Haegg and Hurdler Hakon Lidman to reach the U. S. by February 2.

Neither Haegg nor Lidman has competed on an indoor board track although the former presently is reported training in the Malmoe tennis hall.

Dodds, who lowered the indoor mile time to 4:06.4 at Chicago last spring, announced his retirement in a letter to Dan Ferris, secretary-treasurer of the AAU, in which he said that he expected to leave Boston Sunday for Los Angeles to take up ministerial duties with a Gospel group.

With Dodds out of the indoor track picture this winter, word of Haegg's competition is expected to be furnished by Jim Rafferty of New York, who has done 4:11; and Rudy Simms, ineligible New York university athlete who is the national 1,500 meter king.

School studies are expected to keep Don Burnham, former Dartmouth ace now taking a medical course and Michigan's Hume brothers out of the limelight. Bill Hulse, holder of the American outdoor mark at 4:06, is a naval ensign.

War To Breakfast Tuna Boat Route

San Francisco (AP) — Although many of its boats have entered the Navy's Pacific fleet, the tuna fleet operating in these waters is producing a record catch of 3,500,000 cases this year, nearly a million more than last year, says E. H. Bell, vice president of the American Can Co.

Manned by descendants of sturdy Portuguese fishermen who first sailed along the California coast 400 years ago, scores of the tuna boats are running a "milk route" for the Navy. Known as "Yippee" boats, the craft take on assignments that help run supplies to newly captured Pacific islands and discharge Marines at beach camps.

Durocher and USO Troupe Really Got Closeup Of Front

New York, Jan. 17 (AP) — Leo Durocher and the other members of a Mediterranean USO-baseball troupe got so close to the front lines that once the Germans captured their movie projector and generator.

Durocher, manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers, was a member of the group, led by Sports Writer Tom Meany of the Newspaper PM, that traveled 20,000 miles in 42 days and returned home for its first report today.

Others in the group were Outfielder Joe Medwick of the New York Giants and First Baseman Nick Eetten of the New York Yankees. Eetten did not attend today's press conference, having left for his home in Chicago.

Meany said audiences ranged from 9,500 to 200 although one show drew an audience of "exactly" zero because the mud was waist-deep and the boys just couldn't get through.

"The usual routine called for a showing of the 1944 World Series movie and a general sports quiz," said Meany. "There was one GI group in northern Italy that was cheated out of the picture. When we arrived for the show, which was held in a pitch dark tent, we were told the film could not be shown because the Germans had captured the projector and generating equipment that afternoon."

It was after that "blackout" show that Meany quoted Eetten as commenting "I'm not sure but I think that last fellow gave a ball to was Kesselring" (the German field marshal in charge in Italy).

"Who's going to succeed Landis?" and "what happened to the Dodgers?" were common questions but the query most often repeated was "is it true about the cigarette shortage?" Meany said when he answered "yes" the boys seemed pleased.

TOM RIGGS MISSING

Huntington, W. Va., Jan. 17 (AP) — Lt. Col. Thomas J. Riggs, Jr., former University of Illinois football captain, a hero of the St. Vith road block fight, has been missing in Belgium since December 24, the war department notified his wife today.

The 200-odd persons who attended the annual football recognition banquet Tuesday night included a number of old timers who have sat in on these affairs for a number of years. All agreed that Don Hutson hit the jackpot as the top man of all the fine speakers who have appeared at football banquets here in past years, not even excluding Jimmy Conzelmann who is generally regarded as the No. 1 man in the football league. Hutson so completely captivated his audience that fascination was broadly written on every face.

For some reason most people, including myself, had the impression Hutson would not be much of a speaker but would be interesting, nevertheless, because of his sparkling background in professional football. After Hutson had spoken only a few moments it was obvious that he was an accomplished public speaker with the rare ability of speaking even the serious aspects of his address in a subtle humor. He talked for well over an hour and a quarter and never once did the interest of his audience lag. Most of his listeners felt that the time went all too rapidly.

A question that was asked of Hutson several times privately before his address and which was asked from the floor in the question and answer period of his speaking appearance was, "How do the pro football players train?" Hutson pointed out that Coach Lambeau is a stickler on training regulations, particularly diet. In pros are permitted to smoke if they desire but any player who smokes more than the trainers regard as harmless is promptly ordered to cut it down. Drinking is absolutely taboo. As one might suspect in watching the pros in action, good physical condition is an absolute requirement.

One familiar with professional football cannot help but marvel that a man of Hutson's stature, only 176 pounds and of normal height for that weight, could carve such a niche in the football records as Hutson has over the years. It proves conclusively that football, even the pay-for-play variety, is not for behemoths alone and serves as a standing challenge for the little guy with football ambitions. His record of accomplishments is so long that every football fan knows it thoroughly. It is sufficient to say that no other professional player in history won the most valuable player award in the National league two consecutive years an achievement thus far reserved for Hutson alone.

Gunder Hagg Is Built For Speed On Boards

BY HARRY GRAYSON

New York — Slow for the first time in his life, Gunder Hagg got five days in the Osterlund brig for reprimand one day late for military service.

Unless capable judges are wrong, however, Gunder, the Wonder, will make up for lost time when he starts attacking world indoor records in his initial appearance indoors in late January.

The greatest distance runner who ever lived arrived in this country for his second visit immediately following the first of the year.

Provided he can run on boards and he appears built for that purpose Hagg should sweep seven indoor records to swell his total of world marks to 13. The Malmö haberdasher now holds every world outdoor mark from 1500 to 5000 meters, with the exception of the mile. His best mile is 4:04.6.

BULLISH TREND SPURS MARKET

New York, Jan. 17 (AP) — Bullish tendencies cropped out in the stock market today and leading issues pushed ahead fractions to around a point.

Rails had one of their best days in a week. Steel, motor, rubber, retail, farm implement, aircraft and miscellaneous manufacturing equities all participated.

Dealings expanded with the rise and aggregated 1,532,670 shares for the full session, against 1,209 Tuesday. The Associated Press 60-stock average at 59.6 was up .3 of a point.

At new highs for the year or longer were Farnsworth Television, Emerson Electric, Walworth and Symington-Gould. Also higher were Radio Corp., Curtis Publishing, Warner Bros., U. S. Steel, Chrysler, Willys-Overland, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Great Northern and International Telephone.

Wider swings included gains of 1 1/2 by U. S. Rubber, 1 1/8 by Texas Co., 1 1/4 by Goodrich and 1 1/2 by Allied Chemical. American Telephone was off 1/4 for one of the few losses among the "blue-chips."

Of 93 issues appearing on the tape, 644 were up, 132 down and 175 unchanged.

BONDS TAPER OFF

New York, Jan. 17 (AP) — The bond market showed modest recovery at times today but became tired of the effort in the final hour and lost some of the advantage.

A spectacular run up of 25 points in the new 6 1/2 of the Philadelphia & Reading Coal & Iron Corp. easily overshadowed other developments. The bonds, admitted to trading on Monday during a market sell-off, opened at 200, advanced steadily to 234 and then slid back to close at 229 for a net gain of 20 points on total sales of $194,000, par value.

Another feature of bond trading was an unusually strong demand for the Russian 5 1/2s and 6 1/2s on the curb. Each ended with net gains of 2 3/8 points on total sales of nearly $2,000,000, par value.

Standard rails on the big board enjoyed a moderately broad recovery cycle for a time but selling cropped up sufficiently to whittle down the advantage to a net of 1 of a point for the 20 issues of the Associated Press averages. Holding part of the day's gain at the end were, among others, U. S. Steel, 1/2; Southern Railway, 1/2; St. Paul, 1/2; and Illinois Central, 1/2.

On the losing end were St. Paul adjutant, 1/2; Southern Railway, 1/2; St. Paul, 1/2; and Illinois Central, 1/2.

ON THE BELGIAN FRONT, (delayed) (P)—A bunch of musicians have turned medics up here in the cold, snow-covered Ardennes Forest, and some of America's better known bandmen are playing mercy instruments in a front line medical center.
They are in the 84th Division's new "Convalescent Center," which sends slightly wounded doughboys back into action within 10 days—in- stead of the month or six weeks it would normally require.
It's still an experiment, but during the month we've had the center in operation we've sent more than 35 per cent of our total casualties back into action within 10 days," said Major Robert J. Day Omaha, Neb., the division engineer company's surgical chief. "By the old system of evacuating them farther to the rear we'd be lucky to get 10 or 15 per cent back that soon."
It's an experiment because normally a division clearing station isn't supposed to keep patients more than 72 hours. Thus, when the convalescent center was set up, Army red tape prevented any personnel being available to operate it.
"That's where the band members came in," said M-Sgt. William Disbrow, Cranford, N. J. "It takes 37 men and officers to run the center and 28 of them came from the Division Band."
They set up 200 cots, litters and pallets on the floor of an old Belgian Castle and sent for the band boys.
Sgt. Phil Ford of San Francisco and Alameda, Calif., who used to have his own band on the west coast, was one of the first to show up. He brought his clarinet and saxophone and composed novelty pieces and songs in his spare time. When he isn't making beds or changing dressings he's singing songs to the boys—"Cigarette for Poppa" and "Uncle Sammy, Take Care of My Gal" are two of his own compositions that the doughboys like best.
Along came Cpl. Charles (Pappy) Powell, Ontario, Ore., and although now he's tuning out nerves of shaken soldiers, he also had a big string bass with which he used to shake dance floors in San Valley, Idaho, Los Angeles and other places.
Sgt. Al Deharis of Uniontown, Pa., beats out on bedpans the tunes he used to drum in Herbie Kay's Band.
Most famous of all is Cpl. Otto (Coco) Heimel, New Orleans, La., whose guitar provided accompaniment for 15 years for Gene Austin and made the famous best-selling record "My Blue Heaven." Cpl. Bill Sadler, who once had his own outfit in Cincinnati and elsewhere in the Midwest, now tickles the battered division piano. Others include: Pfc. Pete Castellano, New Jersey trumpeter who starred with Bob Crosby and Ina Ray Hutton; Pfc. Rudy Pompili, Philadelphia saxophonist; and Sgt. William Notini, Lowell, Mass., alto saxophonist who played in Richard Himber's Band.
Most of the wounded doughboys don't know the reputations of their ward attendants. They only know their division is taking care of them—which is a lot better than being shunted around from one replacement depot to another.
The officers still don't know whether the army will extend the idea to other divisions, but they do know that the commanding general of their army group sent them congratulations, saying they were "salvaging more fighting personnel than any outfit in the European theater of operations."
Born Oct. 1923 in Marquette, Cpl. Griener came to Iron Mountain when a boy and was graduated from Kingsford High with the class of 1941. He was employed in Chicago until December 1942, when he returned here to live until he was inducted in March 1943.

U. P. Briefs

HARRY VIVIAN DIES
Houghton—Harry Vivian, widely known copper mining engineer, former chief engineer of the Calumet and Hecla Consolidated Copper company and for many years chairman of the Houghton County Road Commission, died Sunday morning in the Calumet and Hecla hospital after a long illness.
Born in Calumet, Mr. Vivian was graduated from Calumet high school and the Michigan College of Mining and Technology. Following his graduation, he was employed as an engineer by the Tamarack Mining company and when this organization was absorbed by Calumet and Hecla in 1917, he joined the C. and H. engineering staff. Two years later he was appointed chief engineer.
SGT. JANQUART MISSING
Menominee—Sgt. Edward Janquart, 31, who was attached to a tank destroyer unit of the Third Army, is reported missing in action in Belgium since December 21 in a message received today by his brother, Joseph Janquart, 329 Dunlap avenue.
Sergeant Janquart, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Janquart, who lived at 829 Dunlap avenue was born in Menominee, December 20 1913, he attended St. Ann's parochial school, received his first communion and was confirmed in St. Ann's church. He graduated from Menominee high school and prior to entering service March 17, 1942 he was employed by the Lloyd Manufacturing company.

HELD FOR HOMICIDE

Marquette—Ernest Korpi, 19, a resident of Traunkin, driver of the car which struck and killed Carl I. Bergh, Jr., 32 of Skandia, about 2:30 Sunday morning on Grove street near Olle's tavern, waived examination when arraigned yesterday in municipal court on a charge of negligent homicide and was bound over to circuit court by Judge John Siegel.

TROLLER LIMIT OPPOSED

Hancock—Opposition to the present Michigan limit of "25 pounds and one fish" limit on lake trout taken by trollers is being pushed by the Blue Lakes Sportsmen's club of Hancock. The club advances these reasons for its opposition: Boats licenses for commercial trolling or commercial fishing pay $10 and up annually. Requiring a license from each fisherman aboard is a "tax on a tax" says the club. Most Michigan fishermen buy the general rod license and therefore the state gains little in license revenue from the requirement. Eliminating this requirement would benefit the out of state tourist and encourage the tourist industry. Wisconsin has no license requirement for lake trout trolling.

NORWAY MEN MISSING

Norway—Eugene Casanova 20, youngest son of Mrs. Anna Massa, 428 Elm, and Earl Korvela, 21 son of Mr. and Mrs. John Korvela, 508 Chestnut, were reported missing in action in Germany only a day apart by telegrams from their families received Saturday from the War Department.

MISSING IN GERMANY

Iron Mountain—Cpl. Norman C. Griener, 21, radio operator with the 106th Reconnaissance troops in Germany, has been missing in action since Dec. 16, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Griener, 141 Henford, were told in a telegram

GILLIAN WILL SPEAK FEB. 5

Noted Humorist Booked
For Next Town Hall
Program

Strickland Gillilan, noted humorist, will be the speaker on the next Town Hall program at the Wm. W. Oliver Memorial auditorium Monday evening, Feb. 5. His topic will be: "Let's Grin and Bear It."

Gillilan is rated as one of the best after-dinner speakers in the country. After several years in newspaper work, he decided to engage in free lance writing and lecturing.

He has written several books of humorous verse.

Charles L. Erdmann Of Green Bay, Wis., Dies In Escanaba

Charles L. Erdmann, 66, of 207 South Van Buren street, Green Bay, died at 11 o'clock Wednesday morning at the home of his daughter, Mrs. George McDonnell, 815 South 15th street, with whom he had been visiting since the first of the year. A heart attack which he suffered a week ago caused his death.

He was born in Green Bay on April 19, 1878, and was a life-long resident of that city. He was a bus operator for the Wisconsin Public Service for 43 years, retiring on December 1, 1944. He was a member of the Loyal Order of Moose and of the Amalgamated Association of Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employees.

Surviving are his wife, two children, Mrs. McDonnell of this city and Ralph of Green Bay; one granddaughter, Jacqueline Erdmann; and one brother, Henry, of Green Bay.

The body was taken to the Allo funeral home for preparation for burial and will be shipped to the Schauer and Schumacher funeral home at Green Bay this afternoon. Services will be held at the funeral home Saturday afternoon, with burial in Woodlawn cemetery.

"Relaxation" Dance Will Follow Exams

Following the strain of examinations this week Escanaba senior high school students will have a relaxation dance from 8 to 11 p. m. in the school gymnasium tomorrow night. Room 311, of which Clarence Pearson is sponsor, is in charge of the dance. Music will be furnished by the matinee orchestra, and Miss Margaret Krastover's art room is doing decorations for the party.

Students and guests, with guest cards, will be admitted to the dance at which refreshments will be sold.

These Are Known As Cleanup Shots

Greenville, Miss. (AP)—A dry-cleaner who had no shotgun shells and a hunter with a "laundry situation" worked out what they call a "highly satisfactory swap" during the duck hunting season.

The hunter gave the cleaner two boxes of 20-gauge shotgun shells, for which the cleaner cleaned the hunter's clothing, free of charge, for one month.

Far East Authority Speaks In Munising

Jack Morrow, newspaper writer and lecturer, will speak at the Mather high school Tuesday afternoon January 24, at 2:30. His topic will be "Your share in Asia". Mr. Morrow is well qualified to speak on this vital subject being one of the leading authorities on the Far East.

Mr. Morrow, who was a New York newspaperman, remained in Asia at the close of World War I, to work on the staff of the Japan Advertiser of Tokyo and was editor of the Japan Times and Mail. He was closely associated with the Kokusai News in Japan which was the sole distributor of news about Japan to the rest of the outside world.

The public is welcome to come and hear Mr. Morrow speak on some of the vital issues and get first hand information on Japanese ways of life. There will be a small admission charge.

State Convention Delegates Picked

Alger county Democrats held their county convention Monday, in the county courthouse with the following men being chosen as delegates to the Democrat state convention to be held January 27, in Flint: Harry C. Got Those GRAY HAIR BLUES?

Many feel gray hair is a handicap... that it adds years to their age. Now science has discovered an "anti gray hair" vitamin.

Get Rayvita Vitamins
Yes, RAYVITA Vitamins work, and at last gray hair is returning to its natural color. RAYVITA Vitamins contain the same amount of "anti-gray hair" vitamin (Plus 450 Int. units B) as tested by a leading housekeeping magazine. Of those tested, 88% had return of hair color. RAYVITA Vitamins are non-fattening, can't harm your "permanent" 30 day supply. $1.50; 100 days, $4.00. Phone

HAROLD SOLLEY LOST IN ACTION

Escanaba Soldier Was Reported Missing
Since Dec. 16

T/S Harold R. Solley, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Solley, 1608 North 18th street, Escanaba, has been missing in action since Dec.

16, the war department has informed his parents.

Solley is one of several Escanaba boys reported recently as missing in action since Dec. 16, the day that the Germans launched their big counter-offensive in Belgium. Most of these men reported missing as a result of that attack are presumed to be prisoners of war, the war department indicated recently.

Lloyd Douglas' adult life was spent as a Lutheran minister until after he was 50 years old, when he wrote his first novel, "Magnificent Obsession."
